INTERNAL CAUSES OF FTS SUCCESS.

By the Rev. B. F. Tayry, D. D., LL.D., late President of Genesec College. With a letter of Introduction, by Bishop Janes. 12m. 538 pp. Price #1 25.

Dr. Teff in as given to the public a very full and valuable please of Church history—tracing Methodism from its rise to its present extensive organization, which numbers more communicants than any other Protestant denomination. The work is rich in blography, and notices all the preachers of note from the founder Wesley, and it is also replete with information concerning the order. The most important feature of the work is the discussion of the phillosophy of the remarkable success of Methodism. The whole subject is treated with elaborate and patient research and scholarly ability.

Bread of all kinds made by using it is light, more digestible and nutritious, has an egreeable, natural taste, is less liable to sour, will retain its moleture longer than by any other process, and the whole preparation for the oven need not exceed isn when yeast is not within reach, as at sea. Is all climates, and ander all circumstances, it may be adopted, thus obvisting all quently of an inferior quality, rendering the bread more or less

It is valuable as regards economy, as a saving is effected in the four of not less than 16 per cent. In the common process, much of the saccharine of the flour is lost by being converted into car generating gas to raise the dough. By using Concentrated Leaven this waste is avoided, and the gas obtained in a man-ner equally efficacious. Fermentation destroys a part of the flour or meal; a barrel of flour, weighing 195 pounds, which ordinarily makes shout 250 pounds of bread, gives by this process 290 p ands, thus effecting a very important saving. By conformity to the directions on each package, any person capable of ordinary a tection may conduct the process, and the result will invariably

CERTIFICATE FROM DR. HAYES, ASSAYER TO THE STATE OF MASSACHUSETTS. Messrs. ! Edwin Chamberlin & Co., with reference to its purity and efficiency of action in producing the effect of years in dis-tending dough, and thereby rendering it fit for making bread This article is skillfully compounded, from perectly pure marerials. It raises the dough without consuming the sugar or any other principle in the flour, perfectly; and the same weight of flour will produce more sweet, palatable bread than can be obtained through the aid of yeast; while for cakes and pasty it is invaluable, as it saves all risk and much time of the pastry cook. The experiments made by me confirm the statements of the manufacturers, and prove this compound worthy of public ap-proval and extended use. Respectfully, A. A. HAYES, State Assayor.

HOW TO USE IT. BREAKFAST AND TEA ROLLS.

Three teaspoonfuls of Leaven to one quart of flour; mix croughly by passing two or three times through a sieve; rub in a piece of butter of half the size of an egg, and make the paste with feeld milk or water (milk is preferable), barely stiff enough to permit rolling out. Much kneading should be avoided. Cut into desired ferm, and place immdiately in a hot oven, and bake

The same proportion of Leaven and flour sifted together as above; omit the butter, and make the paste thick enough to knead into a loaf, and bake immediately in a slow oven.

BUCKWHEAT CAKES. Flour and milk sufficient to make one quart of batter; add one egg; then three teaspoonfuls of Leaven; beat to a froth and cook quick.

SPONGE CAKE. Two cups of white sugar, beaten with the yolks of six eggswhites of six eggs beaten to a froth; then beat all togother; add three cups of sifted flour, one cup of water, and three teaspoon

Siarr took the chair, when the following rescuttions were adopted:
It hereas, It hash pleased Aimighty God, in the allwise dispensations of his Providence, to remove the late Dr. John Crosby from our midst, be it therefore.

Resolved, That while we deeply deplore the loss we have sustained by the demise of our exteemed friend, and sincerely sympathicing with his disconsolate widow, half-orphan daughter, and bereaved parents and kindred, we cannot refrain from expressing our regret that his homediate removal for interment to albay to Conniy deprived us of the melancholy satisfaction of poying the last tribute of friendeinp to his remains.

Resolved, That his sound sense and splendid intellect, which shown as brightly as the diamond's light; his indomitable energy and untiring perseverance, wen our admiration, while his granial, kindly mature, and feeling beart, ever ready to sympathic with the nillicred, and rejoice with the happy, secured our love.

Herefred. That his death left a blank in the circle of his mourning friends which can never be alied up, and is an irreparable loss to his numerous patients, who held him in the highest esteem, and whose entire and unbounded confidence he pos exceed.

Resolved. That a copy of these resolutions, and an accompanying address, be presented to his sorrowing relatives, in testimony of our respect and affection for our acquarted friend.

Resolved, That these resolutions be inserted in The N. Y. Herald, The Times, and The Tribune.

An. Farron has been several years engaged in the preparation of this work, and has been sevowed upon it the most careful research and investigation. The first volume of the Subscribers' Edition was issued a year since; the second was published last Spring; and the third and last is now completed. Of the first and second volumes, the press have spoken in the warmest commendation.

Especially at this time, when the questions of nollification and secasion are again considered, the history of Jackson's Administration is of peculiar interest.

It is the first history of the great here. Hitherto the malice of partiesn venom, or the prejudice of personal affection, have provented a cool, studied, and suvariabled narrative of the secones of his life and the events of the times in which he bore so prominent a part as a soldier and a state-mas.—[Washington States and Union.
